

PR & Marketing for Heavy Music

Who We Are

PR and marketing agency, The Metallist supports metal and rock bands with online & print PR, radio plugging, YouTube marketing, Spotify playlist pitching, and customized marketing solutions.

Metal music is experiencing a phase of great expansion, thanks to the advent of social media and streaming services. In this context, having a clear musical proposal, message and image allows the bands to stand out from the crowd and become attractive to online & print media, radio stations, playlisters, record labels, and booking agencies.

The Metallist takes care of your new release at 360°, creating the brand identity that summarizes the image, messages, and feelings that the band wants to communicate, through the creation of a fanbase with social media and e-mail marketing, up to the execution of a successful PR and marketing campaign.

PR & Publicity

- Online media & printed press: we submit your music to leading metal & rock music media outlets for getting reviews, and we organize extensive interviews with operators who are daily involved in the music industry.
- Radio plugging: we guarantee that your music will be aired alongside that of the most famous metal and rock bands in the world. We also have solid relationships with the US college radio stations. We really have everything it takes to pump your sound around the world.
- Spotify playlist pitching: we submit your music to curators who manage playlists with a high number of followers.
- Copywriting: we write press releases in English, German, French, and Italian. We write and edit biographies to present your career in an engaging way.

Digital Marketing

- YouTube Marketing: we boost the real views of your latest video thanks to marketing campaigns made with Google Ads.
- Social Media Campaigns: we offer our experience to choose and manage the most suitable social media networks for you. The choice is huge: Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, LinkedIn, YouTube, Reddit, and Tumblr.
- Branding: The Metallist helps bands to "package" their feelings, colors, looks, and other contents into a brand coherent and functional to their communication strategy.
- Website Design: we develop a website complete of photos, videos, and all the necessary info to portray your career and keeping your fans updated as well.

- Landing Pages: we develop landing pages where your potential fans are attracted, intrigued, and "redirected" to the band's social network pages.
- Search Engine Optimization: it can be really hard to be found on the Internet these days. There are so many bands with their websites looking for visibility! The SEO activity by The Metallist optimizes your band website or landing page to appear in the first organic results of Google.
- Search Engine Advertising: advertising on the main search engines means creating cost per click (CPC) campaigns that increase traffic to your site or landing page. Tell us your need, we will prepare a customized offer for you.
- E-Mail Marketing: finding new fans is important, but keeping their interest and support high is perhaps even more so. The Metallist can manage your fanbase by sending e-mails with your latest news, graphically beautiful and well laid out.

Label Consulting

Is your band looking for a record label or distribution partner for your upcoming full-length or EP? Thanks to our longstanding experience, we will help you finding the right label or distributor for your band.
